

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A hair holding device comprising;
a first body member and a second body member;
hinge means for pivotally connecting said first and second body members; and means for biasing said first and second members into a predetermined position, wherein said first and second body members comprise hair gripping portions and said hinge means comprise cooperating male and female members for enclosing said biasing means.
2. The hair holding device of claim 1 wherein said cooperating male and female members are substantially cylindrical in shape.